

Traxx Construction Products goes red

Traxx Construction Products and Scanmaskin, a European premier brand in surface preparation, have joined forces in Australia and New Zealand.

Managing Director of Marketing and Sales for Scanmaskin, Paulo Bergstrand said: "We are delighted to have the Traxx team on board with our brand.

"They cover the entire region of Australia and New Zealand with experienced, talented and motivated sales professionals, supported by a first class team of sales support, repair and logistics specialists".

Traxx Managing Director, Lloyd Williams was delighted with the new arrangement. "We have worked with Scanmaskin for some time now with an own branded product, but with Scanmaskin's fast global growth, it makes serious sense to 'go red', given the massive brand recognition that the product is getting as a result of expansion not only in Europe, but in USA and North Asia.

"We are very excited about the future of the Scanmaskin products, knowing what is currently in the pipeline and the ambitions of the company." ■
