Versatility of Livos

While Livos is well known for our timber floor oils treatments did you know these same products can also be used for treating ply, mud brick, concrete, slate, OSB board and even straw? Maxa deigns used the Kaddet to add some color and then protected the surface with Kunos to make a fun and beautiful structural strawboard stand at the Grand designs expo. With a range of paints, kids face and finger products as well as cleaning products there really is a safe and natural product for most surfaces.

Superpod

Livos Australia is excited to be involved in the first Superpod® podhouse® in the world. Superpod Pty Ltd is a company specialising in design, fabrication and installation of affordable low energy high design houses and other buildings. Houses that are predesigned for top performance, but allowing you to add options with flexibility. Low maintenance and high performance while looking great - good design is for everyone!

Featuring gorgeous steel work, nice panels, beautiful hoop pine ply, slick stainless steel benches with all the passive house "secret Superpod business" is all hidden. While they have a little more finishing off to do, you can watch the superpod grow on Facebook and Flicker and see the Livos oils used on their ply and benchtops.

Randwick Bar: Bat country

While the Livos oils are made from natural materials there is no need to compromise on quality or durability, as our many commercial clients can testify. The new Bat Country bar in Randwick has used natural oils on their tables and benches. This helps staff and customers enjoy that old world charm and feel the connection to real timber without introducing unnecessary toxic products.

Austral Ply

We are being asked more regularly about using the Livos oils on Ply. We have had wonderful results with the Livos oils on ply and particularly on the Austral ply which we have personally tested in consultation with the company. We recommend the Kunos #244. Gary from Austral Ply has shared with us and our clients that " There is a Livos brand of finish that is suitable for hoop pine. That is the only oil based finish that has been tried and proven to work well. Livos is also a very eco friendly finish."

A document clarifying the product labels and supporting the use of Kunos on ply surfaces is available on the Livos website .

Expos

With the warmer weather and sun venturing back so have the expos, this year we have chosen to focus on more community and sustainable expos with great results. Having the time to really spend talking with visitors has been very rewarding. Some of the most recent expos included Mornington, Hayfield, Cornish College and the ever popular Hobart SLF. Keeping in touch with the Northern woodworkers was also a fun and popular morning. In case you missed it, at the expos we had a little competition running from 24.10—24.11 to win a Vida and Salis pack, all you needed to do was sign up to newsletter to go in draw, today is the final day if you would like to enter.

Woodworker Magazine

Issue 178 December 2014, page 80 Features the ever popular Kunos Counter top oil. Used extensively by award winning craftsmen the Kunos #243 is certified food safe and with an added benefit of preventing heat below 50 degrees C. With a full ingredients listing you can make a fully unformed choice.

Sanctuary Issue 29 Summer

Page 14, Style and Sustainability, Elwood house is sustainable design on show as well as hidden in the detail of this urban Melbourne home. Featuring the Livos Ardvos on internal timbers.

Page 34, Colour me house, this renovated inner Melbourne home is a celebration of colour and light and the three R's: reduce, reuse and recycle. With the oils used on their eco concrete.

Sanctuary Issue 28 Spring

Page 36 Organic Retreat, this environmentally friendly home opened its doors to the public for Sustainable house day during September 2014 . Wendy, the owner is so thrilled with their concrete she had contacted us early to send out some brochures so she could give her voice a break when asked about the floors by her visitors.
