April 2019

We've been very busy here at Livos!
Summer time is always popular with people having time off work to do their projects around the house along with Schools being on holidays and rejuvenating their floors but Autumn is as good a time as any to continue with these tasks. We've also done a few interstate trips to various expos and trade shows which is always extremely well received! We love to hear from you so please let us know any feedback

Kindest regards Angela Petrucci

New Queensland stockist

We would like to welcome Dante (the tall, dark and handsome one on the right) from Stivanello Bespoke to our Livos family. Based in the Brisbane suburb of Stafford, he himself is well versed in using the Livos oils on his beautiful bespoke furniture pieces. Choosing Livos over other products was not difficult for Dante. He required a non toxic product that was durable and worked. Angela recently visited along with other furniture makers to demonstrate the various uses and application methods of the oils. His details can be found here on our stockists page.

Advantages to using the Livos natural oils

Our latest blog post is now up on our website! Read about the many advantages to using natural oils compared to synthetic counterparts. Whether you have internal or external timber, furniture, concrete, ply or a school gym the possibilities are endless! To read more click here.

Anton Gerner

As many may be aware, there was some heated discussions on Instagram @antongerner last month. Everyone is free to make or have an opinion as long as it is not derogatory. Livos, in communication with Anton Gerner had little input into the discussion, since it was a discussion predominantly amongst furniture makers. We have though answered many private messages and reached out to others. To those that supported and stood up for Livos, we thank you sincerely. It was indeed heart-warming.

Tools & Techniques weekend at the Sturt School for Wood

What a fabulous weekend it was again in Mittagong at the annual Tools & Techniques weekend. It was wonderful to meet all the enthusiastic current (and past) students as well as avid users and people completely new to the Livos oils. There was an excellent turn out for our talk on Saturday morning demonstrating the oils and certainly many questions and positive feedback.

Easter Closing times

We are closed the following days in April.

- Good Friday 19th April 2019
- Easter Saturday 20th April 2019
- Easter Sunday 21st April 2019
- Easter Monday 22nd April 2019
- Anzac Day Thursday 25th April 2019

Durability on timber and concrete floors

The Livos penetrating oils are suitable for all types of substrates, from timbers, ply, OSB, even concrete and porous stones. In internal as well as external situations. These natural oils are easy to maintain, rejuvenate and develop a warm and luscious sheen to the surface while providing protection from everyday living. Alternatively, you're able to leave a google review by clicking here and logging in. We look forward to hearing about what you like about not only our service but our products. We do however, welcome any suggestions or criticisms you wish to share, that may help us improve, please hit reply to this email with any such comments or suggestions.

Decanting unused oil

At times one is boarderline with a size tin one needs for a specific project or perhaps one intends to use a specific container over several jobs. As with all products, it is more economical to purchase larger quantities, but not if it “goes off”.

Due to the oils not having synthetic preservatives, the oils may form a skin or “go off” with time. The formation of skin occurs because the ingredients react with air.

This can be prevented by on of the following suggestions;

Transferring or decanting into smaller containers.

Inserting marbles into the container to raise the level of the oil, works, but it creates a cleaning effort that some customers do not like.

Another idea is Laying a wax paper on the oil surface.

That is a very practical and good alternative.

Videos and "how to" information sheets

We are constantly changing, updating and improving our information on our website.

Please note; all the how to sheets, now including application on ply and on food surfaces, including videos are on our “Tips and Tricks” page. Remember though, that correct maintenance will prolong the longevity of your surface. If you cannot find something, please let us know.
